☆☆☆☆ USA TODAY

BLUE PLANET

A film that lets you see the earth as the astronauts do. Experience the powerful forces of nature which affect our lives, and see how we ourselves are changing this fragile and beautiful world... our only home. This laserdisc release features a second audio track with music and sound effects only. The analogue tracks contain the complete soundtrack with narration, plus music and effects.

FIRES OF KUWAIT

Fires of Kuwait begins in blackness. Towering firestorms fill the giant screen. An aerial view reveals a row of blazing out-of-control oil wells far into the distance, filling the sky with smoke and blocking out all sunlight. When returning Iraqui troops sabotaged more than 600 oil wells, it proved to be the supreme act of vengeance. In many ways as terrible as the war that preceded it.

"A breathless experience..."
Newsweek

HAIL COLUMBIA!

In 1981, the first space shuttle captured the imagination of the world; a technological feat which launched America back into the forefront of space exploration. Hail Columbia, produced by Graeme Ferguson and Roman Kroltor, portrays the story of the space shuttle Columbia and the people who made it happen. Opens with a mammoth view of the shuttle rolling out for a launch.

TITANICA

On April 15, 1912, on its maiden voyage, the Titanic collided with an iceberg and sank; 1,502 people lost their lives. Titanica takes audiences on a once-in-a-lifetime adventure of discovery to the site of the world's most famous shipwreck. This 90 minute feature length film was shot during the Akademik Kelkysh expedition to the North Atlantic by award-winning filmmaker Stephen Low.

FANTASTIC CREATURES
THAT RULED THE EARTH

DINOSAURS

They were the largest creatures that ever lived and they ruled the world for more than 140 million years... then they vanished. View bones uncovered at an excavation in northern Texas and visit the bone collection at the National Museum of Natural History. Narrated by James Whitmore, this program compares Hollywood's version of dinosaurs with the real story as told by scientists.

THE LITTLE THINGS THAT RUN THE WORLD

INSECTS

Insects make up over eighty percent of all animal life on earth. Learn how they have evolved and adapted to survive for eons. This program demonstrates the stunning ways insects have evolved and learned to survive while so many other animals have become extinct and why scientists consider insects to be the most successful living organisms on earth.
